FFRA is an IRS 501(c)3 organization and is recognized as a not-for-profit entity under Florida laws. FFRA does not receive funding from the U.S. Dept. of Education, the Florida Dept. of Children and Families or any other governmental funding source.

FFRA was started in 1997 by a small group of parents whose children were developmentally disabled. This charter group realized there was no single, reliable information source available in Citrus County to guide parents in making critical decisions affecting their loved ones. Membership consists largely of parents, family, friends and other advocates concerned for the short and long term welfare, safety and quality of life for intellectually challenged persons living in Citrus County.

Family & Friends Reaching for Abilities (FFRA)

FFRA members are advocates for the safety and welfare of intellectually challenged adults of Citrus County.

Join us in our Hall of Frame!

FFRA is a Citrus County charitable organization that provides multiple benefits to its members, parents, guardians, care-givers and volunteers.

Giving back to the community is a major objective of our members.

Family & Friends Reaching for Abilities is a resource for intellectually disabled individuals and their families. It is a non-profit organization concerned with the short and long term welfare, safety and quality of life for developmentally challenged adults of Citrus County. FFRA meetings generally feature guest speakers who provide families with much needed information about issues surrounding their loved one's care and support:

- Medicare Waivers
- Supplemental Social Security Income
- Guardianship
- Group Home Transition
- Social and Recreational Activities
- Wills and Trusts

Working together, FFRA supports the Intellectually Disabled of our community. Our members actively provide ongoing help, guidance and nurturing relationships for our special population. Join us to become a part of this effort to promote special needs adults within Citrus County. Volunteer to help them "give back" to our community so others will recognize the contributions they can offer...in many ways!
